

Tourism Commission website revamped

*****

The Tourism Commission (TC) launched its revamped website yesterday (February 27). The website has been completely revamped in terms of design, structure and content. The site provides more up-to-date information on all the projects being carried out by the TC, as well as links to a vast range of information on Hong Kong to help visitors and local residents alike. A new information search engine in a more user-friendly style has been incorporated. The site will be regularly updated to provide press releases, speeches and photographs on tourism activities.

"With the revamped website in place, we hope that it will provide a convenient and accessible channel of communication between TC, our visitors and the community on tourism developments and issues affecting Hong Kong," a spokesman for the TC said.

The website can be assessed through www.tourism.gov.hk.
